RESOURCES READY

Is your business Resources Ready?

Things are looking up for the mining and resources sector in South Australia. Is your business best prepared to take advantage of new opportunities?

Join RESA and Regional Development Australia in Port Lincoln for a complimentary information session to discover the resources opportunities available to you and your business.

At the information session RESA will cover:

- new developments in the resources sector, including:
 - the increase in the number of operating mines
 - mines coming out of care and maintenance
 - new project approvals
- the importance of preparing your business for the supply chain
- the Resources Ready Online supply chain development program

What is Resources Ready Online?

Resources Ready Online is an innovative new business capability development program from RESA, supported by METS Ignited. This national program will be delivered across Australia to regional centres, and will support companies working in, or seeking to enter the Mining, Energy, and Oil and Gas sectors to build their business capability and improve their resources strategy.

The program is intended for senior leaders and decision makers within companies, and people in growth and strategically focused roles. It is also suitable for emerging leaders in positions of influence.

About RESA

The Resources and Engineering Skills Alliance (RESA) is an industry backed specialist Not-for-Profit with a strategic focus on skills and capability in the resources sector and its supply chain.
