The study will utilise existing analysis where possible to provide a snapshot of residential land supply in each major town across EP and provide options for the cost-effective delivery of critical infrastructure need to encourage investment in new housing stock. CEO participated in an online briefing with the Hon Nick Champion MP, Minister for Housing and Urban Development, for the announcement by the Office of Regional Housing for Registration of Interest (ROI) process to identify and support residential housing developments that could benefit from partnership with the State Government to meet set criteria to be assessed and considered for targeted assistance to address housing shortages in regional SA.
	Investigate low-cost and alternative construction methodologies, such as prefabrication, to avoid difficulties associated with access to trades and material shortages.	June 2024	Economic Development Manager	Discussions with employers and industry regarding the use of alternative housing, such as prefabricated buildings, to meet employee housing demand in particular locations and employment sectors. Investigating the use of alternative on-site building methods including 3D printing (Dubbo Amenities Block).
	Lobby the State Government to reduce fees, charges, and other connection costs for new housing developments, to encourage investment.	December 2023	Economic Development Manager	Advocated with Estha van der Linden, Ai Group regarding new developments not being able to connect to mains water, especially the Streaky Bay area. Estha is on the SA Water Customer Advisory Panel. CEO met with Matt Hunt, and Andrew Christensen, Office for Regional Housing, Renewal SA, to discuss the housing shortage on Eyre Peninsula and workforce issues linked to key major projects. The roundtables intended to identify more granular, specific insights that may differ across regions, to share what's already happening and what works, and to recommend actions that could help address the specific challenges identified. Especially relates to social and low income housing. RDAEP logged an “unsolicited bid” for funding from the State Government that was unfortunately unsuccessful, with the State Government deciding to fund the Office for Regional Housing’s Critical Worker Housing Project (30 houses across the State for police, teachers, etc). However, RDAEP has since met with the Office for Regional Housing about their pilot project, and its next evolution. There may be an opportunity for NEPHA councils moving forward, but it will rely on the Eyre and Far North Local Health Network underpinning any investment to be made by the State Government via the Office for Regional Housing. For example: - councils donate the land, Eyre and Eyre and Far North Local Health Network enters into long-term lease agreements to accommodate resident GPs and the Office for Regional Housing provides the funding to build the houses – investment serviced by lease agreements. This is something RDAEP is looking to help facilitate.
	Work with Local Government, strategic landowners, employers and the development industry to quantify the region's unmet demand for housing and identify land capable of facilitating both temporary short-term worker accommodation and executive style housing to support major projects.	Ongoing	Economic Development Manager	Port Lincoln City Council - CEO met with Council representatives and URPS (engaged by Council) to prepare a Housing Strategy. RDAEP met with Matthew Flinders Homes CEO to discuss opportunities to address the housing shortage for staff and the potential commitment they can provide to de-risk investment by housing developers. Met with Scott Rowlands of Carramatta Holdings Pty Ltd regarding the protentional conversion of the YHA also known as the “backpackers” in Port Lincoln into low-cost and short-term worker accommodation for both skilled and unskilled workforce. Advice included the lodgement of a grant application under the State Government’s Enabling Infrastructure Program. Meeting with Iron Road and AMP Energy relative to the Cape Hardy hydrogen development and in particular the need for short-term accommodation. Suggestions included the site recently

				vacated by ElectraNet at Tumby Bay following completion of the high-voltage transmission line upgrade and the potential use of cruise ships. Meeting with Tumby Bay Council CEO re the need to improve power supply to the existing and currently vacant worker accommodation site. Developing a survey of local government land availability including current vacant serviced allotments, current land divisions and lot yield, potential lot yields from land zoned for future residential use. Comparison of these figures by location with anticipated housing demand using projected job creation from current and future projects. Develop projected figures for unmet housing need to encourage potential investors in land divisions and the building industry. Whyalla City Council – Hydrogen Jobs Plan CEO and EDM participated in an online workshop with City of Whyalla, Department for Energy and Mining, ATCO, Office of Hydrogen Power SA, Renewal SA and other representatives to discuss crown land adjacent Jubilee Park, Whyalla, which is identified as the proposed land to have an accommodation role for approx. 1,000 workers to support the Hydrogen Jobs Plan.
	Work with Councils to develop and support local responses to housing supply issues that works to address both short and mid-term housing availability and affordability issues.	Ongoing	Director Regional Development	RDAEP is seeking to develop a discussion paper (paper) highlighting key issues facing the building and development industry across the Eyre Peninsula (EP), in particular development constraints associated with the cost and timing of infrastructure provision. The paper is to specifically identify concerns and recommend potential strategic level solutions. The paper will be used as an advocacy piece to support well informed discussion amongst RDAEP’s constituents, government, peers and industry. The EP, like much of Australia, is experiencing a housing supply issue, which along with several other factors is affecting housing affordability and impacting economic growth. The housing supply issue is directly related to the inability of developers to provide housing in a financially viable manner. The cost of infrastructure is a significant component of this issue. The Eyre Peninsula Strategic Regional Plan 2023-2026 has identified housing accommodation as its first priority. The paper will provide a point of difference and build on work already undertaken by the State Government and several councils across the EP. Contemporary strategic planning suggests that residential land supply is not the key barrier to housing provision within the region. Recent industry engagement suggests the following matters are detrimentally impacting on the ability of the private sector to provide housing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Costs associated with infrastructure augmentation (particularly head works)</li> <li>• Costs and uncertainty associated with native vegetation clearance</li> <li>• Holding costs – Financial institutions / Council rates / land tax</li> <li>• Strict lending criteria in regional areas.</li> </ul> RDAEP CEO met online with Andrew Mills, CEO, HomeStart to discuss housing opportunities.
	Strengthen the link between housing and future workforce requirements by quantifying demand for housing in line with projected workforce requirements.	June 2024	Economic Development Manager	The use of workforce statistics is used to project workforce demand and then extrapolate housing demand from forecast projects. Also looking at the potential for developing fit-for-purpose housing eg aged housing, to release existing houses into the market. RDAEP is working with the State Government’s Department for Industry, innovation and Science (Workforce Strategy and Projects Team) to map the current projects in the region to obtain a detailed a picture of the investment pipeline and analysis/model workforce requirements over the coming years. May 24 – EDM met with DIIS during a USGSWAG meeting to discuss progress on the Skills Plan for Major Projects in the USG region. Progress to date has been slower than RDAEP would like,

				however DIIS have committed to having this work completed as soon as possible and align this to work already undertaken eg Hydrogen Jobs Plan, RESA Workforce Scoping Study, USG Workforce Summit etc. This report will highlight upcoming housing needs and identify shortfalls.

	Identify opportunities for the expansion of childcare including understanding the supply/demand model and its ability to impact on the local economy including attracting and retaining workforce.	June 2024	Economic Development Manager	To be developed using the unmet childcare needs and determining the number of potential workers that would be able to join the workforce. RDAEP commissioned Community Early Learning Australia (CELA) to develop the Early Education and Care report in partnership with participating member councils and the State Government Office for the Early Years. For background, childcare has for many years been the subject of anecdotal comment regarding the lack of available places for long day care, occasional care and early childhood education. At odds with this anecdotal information was the most recent Australian Government grants program, the "Community Childcare Fund". This fund was specifically established to increase childcare services in areas of the country where there was a limited supply. However, the Eyre Peninsula is not eligible to apply. This is something RDAEP and our participating local government project partners want to change by working collaboratively together to coordinate a regional approach to both quantifying and aggregating the unmet demand for childcare, so that it could be presented as a united front to Government and the private sector to attract investment .As a result RDAEP has been working with the District Councils of Lower Eyre, Tumby Bay, Elliston, Wudinna, Ceduna, Kimba, Franklin Harbor and Streaky Bay and the Whyalla and Port Lincoln City Councils to develop a comprehensive business case to advocate for investment in early childhood education and care across the region. RDAEP have also submitted a pre-budget submission to the Australian Government and requested meetings with relevant Ministers in Canberra. The intent is to influence the 2024-2025 Federal Budget process to attract greater investment in childcare services for the region.
